

EDUCATIONAL TOUR NI ROXANNE

EASTERN VISAYAS STATE UNIVERSITY ORMOC CITY CAMPUS

Computer Studies

Bachelor of Science in Information Technology

June 2025

iquen marba

With members: roxanne dalag, Janpol vasquez, Christian Colo, Kathy Geses

Introduction

Theses serve as a foundational element of academic success in higher education, acting as a crucial requirement for both undergraduate and graduate students to showcase their ability to engage in independent research, utilize critical thinking, and effectively communicate their findings.

Project Objective

Theses serve as a foundational element of academic success in higher education, acting as a crucial requirement for both undergraduate and graduate students to showcase their ability to engage in independent research, utilize critical thinking, and effectively communicate their findings. Theses serve as a foundational element of academic success in higher education, acting as a crucial requirement for both undergraduate and graduate students to showcase their ability to engage in independent research, utilize critical thinking, and effectively communicate their findings. Theses serve as a foundational element of academic success in higher education, acting as a crucial requirement for both undergraduate and graduate students to showcase their ability to engage in independent research, utilize critical thinking, and effectively communicate their findings. Theses serve as a foundational element of academic success in higher education, acting as a crucial requirement for both undergraduate and graduate students to showcase their ability to engage in independent research, utilize critical thinking, and effectively communicate their findings.

Significance of Study

System Analysis and Design